DCC faculty members have created fascinating travel programs to enhance the learning experience. Earn credits or audit the course for personal enrichment!

Peru – BHS 220 – Comparative Social Systems in the US and Abroad – March 2016

“From the Coast to the Mountains: The Rise of Andean Civilization” is a three-credit Behavioral Science course taking place during Spring Break 2016. Our focus is on the complex cultures and civilizations of the South American Andes from the first traces of human occupation to the European invasion in the 1500s. The course will be structured around a study trip to Peru during the spring intersession. Students will experience first-hand the art, architecture, music and culture of both ancient and modern Inka peoples, as well as the Paracas and Nazca cultures of south coastal Peru. The class will begin in Lima, Peru, the modern capital, and travel south and west along the Pacific Coast, where the Paracas and Nazca cultures flourished amid arid desert conditions. We then climb into the Andes Mountains, traversing high passes and deep canyons to reach Cuzco, the ancient Inka capital. We will explore the streets, markets and palaces of Cuzco, then travel through the incomparably beautiful Sacred Valley of the Inkas to Machu Picchu. For more information, contact Professor Stephanie Roberg-Lopez at 845-431-8359, or roberg@sunydutchess.edu.

Jamaica – ENG 280 – Cultural Analysis of Caribbean Literature – March 2016

Travel to Jamaica from March 11 – March 20, 2016, attend pre- and post-travel classes and experience a cultural immersion. Earn three credits after attending six classes; participating in multiple tours, lectures, and service projects; completing a daily journal and a ten-page critical analysis paper; and reading two novels. These credits can be used to fulfill 200-level English requirements for LAH, EDL, and BAT students or for those who require an Other World Civilization course to fulfill their requirements for graduation. The full description of the course, a syllabus for the course, and photographs of past trips can be found on the DCC web page at http://faculty.sunydutchess.edu/goffe-mcnish/. Contact: Jackie Goffe-McNish, McNish@sunydutchess.edu, 431-8445, Hudson Hall 408C. Estimated cost per student (not including tuition/fees): $1,300.

Tuition is $140 per credit for New York State residents; fees for study abroad courses average about $140. FULL-TIME REGISTERED DCC STUDENTS DO NOT PAY ADDITIONAL TUITION DURING THE SPRING SEMESTER. Additional travel costs apply. Please contact the course faculty member for more information.

DURING THE FALL/SPRING SEMESTERS, STUDENTS MUST WAIT UNTIL AFTER THE THIRD WEEK TO REGISTER FOR TRAVEL COURSES.

This page is updated as courses are approved.