Ecuador – BHS 220 – Comparative Social Systems in the US and Abroad - March 2015

“Journey to the Amazon” is a three-credit Behavioral Science class taking place during Spring Break, 2015. Our focus is on the modern place of the indigenous communities of Ecuador, both highland and Amazonian. Our Ecuadorian adventure begins with travel north along the Avenue of the Volcanoes in the northern Andes, to the indigenous market town of Otavalo. We then descend into the Amazon, to spend three days at Sacha Lodge in the rain forest, where we will study the beauty and mystery of the environment, and the people who call it home. Finally, we return to the high Andes to explore Quito, Ecuador’s capital, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. For more information, contact Professor Stephanie Roberg-Lopez at 845-431-8359, or roberg@sunydutchess.edu.

Jamaica – ENG 280 – Cultural Analysis of Caribbean Literature – March 2015

Travel to Jamaica from March 13 – March 21, 2015, attend pre- and post-travel classes and experience a cultural immersion. Earn three credits after attending six classes; participating in multiple tours, lectures, and service projects; completing a daily journal and a ten-page critical analysis paper; and reading two novels. These credits can be used to fulfill 200-level English requirements for LAH, EDL, and BAT students or for those who require an Other World Civilization course to fulfill their requirements for graduation. The full description of the course, a syllabus for the course, and photographs of past trips can be found on the DCC web page at www.sunydutchess.edu/mcnish. Contact: Jackie Goffe-McNish, McNish@sunydutchess.edu, 431-8445, Hudson Hall 408C. Estimated cost per student (not including tuition/fees): $1,300

--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Tuition is $133 per credit for New York State residents; fees for study abroad courses average about $140. FULL-TIME REGISTERED DCC STUDENTS DO NOT PAY ADDITIONAL TUTION DURING THE SPRING SEMESTER. Additional travel costs apply. Please contact the course faculty member for more information.

DURING THE FALL/SPRING SEMESTERS, STUDENTS MUST WAIT UNTIL AFTER THE THIRD WEEK TO REGISTER FOR TRAVEL COURSES.
